

I don't think that the FCC should implement ANY proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

Our current law has significantly lessend the interruptions that occur from telephone solitations. Our law has reduced those interruptions from approximately 30 to 50 calls each month to only 2 to 3 per month. This has relieved a lot of stress and anger caused by those calls.

I feel this is important to continue to prevent our privacy from being interrupted.

Thank you for allowing me to comment.
